The Academic Library in the American University

by Stephen E. Atkins

First published by the American Library Association in 1991, this book is a critical examination of the emergence and evolution of the academic library as a special purpose institution supporting higher education. This reprint with a new introduction by Charles Lowry, dean of the University of Maryland Libraries, continues to be an important resource for academic librarians and library educators. 2003. ISBN: 1-893311-38-4

The Challenge of Constantly Changing Times: From Home Economics to Human Ecology at the University of Wisconsin- Madison, 1903- 2003

by Rima D. Apple

To order see the School of Human Ecology Web site at <http://www.uwsohecentennial.com> or call 608-262-5402.

This book reflects on the rich history, accomplishments, and challenges during the first 100 years of the School of Human Ecology at the University of Wisconsin- Madison. Published in conjunction with its centennial celebration, the book “tells the story of the people and events that, in the words of Dean Frances Zuill, faced ‘the challenge of constantly changing times’ to make the School the vibrant educational and research institution it is today.” 2003. ISBN: 1-893311-39-2

Soil Chemical Analysis- Advanced Course

by M.L. Jackson

To order contact the Department of Soil Science at 608-265-2595.

This revised edition of a much-sought-after text, privately published by the author since 1956, is a modern classic and the source book for many of today’s standard methods of soil mineralogy. M.L. Jackson (1914-2002) was a professor of the Department of Soil Science at the University of Wisconsin- Madison for almost fifty years. This edition contains a new introduction by UW- Madison Professor Phillip W. Barak as well as additional material commemorating Jackson’s long and productive scientific career. Forthcoming. ISBN: 1-893311-47-3

Healing Landscapes: Therapeutic Outdoor Environments

by Martha Tyson

In this thoughtful volume, Martha Tyson presents a sensitive look at creating outdoor spaces for people in need of physical, emotional, or spiritual healing. Tyson, a landscape architect with a focus on healing gardens, is president of Martha M. Tyson Design Consulting and Access Gardening, LLC, based in Door County, Wisconsin. Her nationwide work with developers, architects, and owners of senior living environments, hospice, and health care providers has been recognized for both scholarly and design excellence. Tyson is a consultant with the Chicago Botanic Garden’s Horticultural Therapy Services Program and a research associate with the Institute on Aging and Environment at the University of Wisconsin- Milwaukee’s School of Architecture and Urban Planning. Forthcoming. ISBN: 1-893311-51-1
